THE FLEET OPERATION CENTRE by Navimeteo

Professional marine weather forecasting

The Navimeteo subscription service provides dedicated forecasts for specific ports, courses and anchorages, enabling captains to avoid dangerous conditions and enhance on-board comfort whenever possible.

YOUR FINE-TUNED FORECASTING SERVICE

With its team of experts working for your safety at sea, Navimeteo compares multiple meteorological and oceanographic models to deliver finely tuned bespoke forecasts.

They monitor your vessel at all times, providing all the support you need to optimise your route and make safe decisions.

Like an extra member of your crew

24/7 BESPOKE FORECASTER SUPPORT

Forecaster support is on hand around the clock. All forecasts are tailored to the specific area or location of interest, the nature of your vessel and any other logistical factors.

ROUTE FORECASTS

The forecaster will share all possible scenarios from a range of weather models, recommending the safest departure time and the most comfortable route. Once you depart, the team will monitor your progress and provide detailed updates where appropriate.

PORT & ANCHOR FORECASTS

Haven to head for or which location would be safer when incoming winds and swell make your intended anchorage unsuitable.

WEATHER CHARTS

Individual privileged access to detailed high-resolution ocean and meteorological charts gives you the flexibility to monitor the situation on your own.

WEATHER WARNINGS & TELEPHONE SUPPORT

Warnings are sent to the captain well before any extreme-weather systems make their presence felt. With a forecasting team at the end of a phone 24/7, you can get updates and advice whenever you wish.

VESSEL MONITORING

Navimeteo can monitor your progress and deliver weather alerts for your specific location using AIS and satellite tracking devices. If you do not have a tracking system or AIS coverage, the forecaster will ask the captain for the yacht's position, route, cruising speed and any on-board observations so your progress can be carefully checked en route.

GARMIN

Geolocation technology partner

Garmin inReach can be used on board a fleet of boats to monitor their location and status.

This compact device works right out of the box and is fitted with a long-life rechargeable battery, transmitting a vessel's position in the open sea via satellite; messages are sent and received through the complementary app connection. Garmin InReach connects to mobile phones and can also be used as a distress system, making it the perfect complement to the Navimeteo services.

Service & Contacts
